Social Responsibilities

K-Coolers have close links with an increasing number of European clients who realise the benefits of working with professionals dedicated to providing seamless refurbishment and end-of-life solutions for equipment.

Tailor-made solutions can be provided thanks to a reactive and flexible operating ethic and work can be handled through one central facility or a series of dedicated refurbishment hubs.

Lean manufacturing principles apply throughout K-Cooler's refurbishment processes. The very nature of what they do as a business, and how we do it, helps eliminate waste.

There is complete traceability of equipment and that includes scrap handling and disposal and bar coding is in the process of being implemented.

Enviromental Concerns

Environmental concerns relating to pumps and coolers are at the very heart of K-Cooler's activities, as recycling and refurbishment are two of the company's foundation stones.
